A LOVE SONG TO MY WIFE.

BY JOSEPH BRENAN.

Come to me, darling one; nearer and nearer—
Time only renders you dearer and dearer,
Grief has no chill for the love which is truthful;
Years as they roll find it brilliantly youthful—
Steadfastly scorning a moment of ranging—
Changes around, find affection unchanging;
Brightly it silvers the clouds which are o'er us;
Nightly it lights up the pathway before us.

See you that calm and majestical river,
Stealing on tranquilly, ever and ever—
Beautiful always, in sunshine or shadow,
Breasting the tempest or kissing the meadow—
Bountiful, too, in its musical flowings—
Source of the green which beside it is glowing,
Soul of the woods which so verdantly bound it;
Seed of the flowers which are laughing around it.

Dear! as that river flows onward and onward,
Forcing the seeds of fertility sunward,
So has the current of love for you glided;
Brightening the years which are gathered beside it;
Clothing their forms with a raiment of purple;
Gracing their hands with the laurel and myrtle;
Making each hour, which in quiet reposes,
Break into beauty and blush into roses.

Surely that stream has a lesson for lovers,
O'er it a silver clad sisterhood hovers,
Birds which, illuming the proximate grasses,
Peck into dimples the wave as it passes,
Birds which fulfil their predestinate duty,
Lending their hues to complexion of beauty,
Bright in the morning, or dark in the even,
Ultimate tints in the landscape of heaven.

Thus, as our love hurries on to its ending,
Beautiful things with its beauties are blending,
Fancies which rest in the years by it, dreaming
Silver-clad thoughts which are constantly gleaming,
Griefs which, at evening, the shadow enhances,
Breaking to joys as the morning advances,
Hope for the future, and fond recollection,
Golden-hued guardians of human affection.

What, if some casual wing of ill omen
Glides o'er the wave like the shade of the Gnomen,
What if the song-birds at times have been wearied,
What if the sunshine has not been unvaried,
What if the buds of our spring, which, departed,
Left us in solitude weak and sad-hearted,
What if we sometimes have moments of weeping
Over the little ones death has set sleeping.

Let them sleep on; there are dreams in their slumbers,
Soothed by the angels' most musical numbers;
Lit by the light of a greatness supernal,
Blest by the bliss, which alone is eternal,
Let them sleep on; they are happy above us,
Death cannot make them unable to love us;
Weep not for babes which are benisons o'er us;
Grieve not because they are happy before us!

Come to me, darling one; nearer and nearer—
Time only renders you dearer and dearer;
Grief has no chill for the love which is truthful;
Years as they roll find it brilliantly youthful—
Steadfastly scorning a moment of ranging—
Changes around leave affection unchanging;
Brightly it silvers the clouds which are o'er us;
Nightly it lights up the pathway before us!

THERE'S A HOME FOR ALL.

BY MISS MARY A. YOUNG.

There's a home for the poor on that beautiful shore,
When life and its sorrows are ended,
And sweetly they'll rest in that home of the blest,
By the presence of angels attended.

There's a home for the sad, and their hearts will be glad,
When they've crossed over Jordan so dreary;
For bright is the dome of that radiant home,
Where softly reposes the weary.

There's a home for the ill, and their bosoms shall thrill
With rapture of healthful emotion;
For the invalid's moan will never be known
In that world of peaceful devotion.

There's a home for the old, when time and its mold,
The fair form of beauty has faded;
And brightly they'll bloom beyond the dark tomb,
Where the splendor of youth's never shaded.

There's a home for the young, and a seraphic song
Will that heavenly choir be singing,
While the harps of gold, which never grow old,
Through the glittering arches are ringing.

There's a home for the good where none may intrude,
Or tempt them with evil or folly,
They'll calmly repose, freed from trials and woes,
In that place prepared for the holy.

There's a home for the vile, all polluted with guile,
When they're cleansed by the quick'ning Spirit;
They too may be heir to that kingdom so fair,
And all its full glory inherit.

There's a home for us all; when the flat does call,
We'll fly to the arms of our Savior,
And join in the song of that beautiful throng,
And sing of redemption forever.

THRILLING CAVE ADVENTURE.

I was born and brought up in the neighborhood of the salt-works of M——. My father was second engineer, and I filled the situation of assistant. The scene of our mining operations, at the time of the event which I am going to narrate, was in a narrow valley, lying close to the foot of a perpendicular cliff of rock about one hundred feet high. On its bare sides neither grass nor shrub was to be seen, and scarce any inequality was visible, on which the foot of the climber might find a resting place. In fact it was considered unscalable for a distance of two miles, when it sunk down gradually at either end to the level of the plain. Ascending the cliff, one beheld on the summit a wide plain, stretching off in the distance from the sharp edge of the precipice, and from that dizzy point could look down upon the works of the miners below, close under its sides.

Upon the top of the cliff, which I have been describing, I was strolling listlessly late one Sunday afternoon, thinking of a strange and sad circumstance which had happened about a year ago in our family. My only brother, a lad of fifteen, had gone out early on a summer morning to shoot plover on the heights, and from that hour had never been heard of. When last seen he was mounting the cliff from the eastern side, and though (when alarmed at his long delay) we made immediate search and inquiry, we never gained further information. To speak of our family distress and my own heart-grieving for my well-beloved brother, is not now my purpose; but it was the only subject of my thoughts on that quiet summer evening, when all the noise from the works was hushed, and the stillness seemed tenfold by contrast.

I approached very near the edge of the cliff. I was now at its steepest part, and looking down its smooth sides, I thought how terrible the fall would be; but my brother could not have fallen down. In that case his mangled body, at least, would have been found.

I was recalled to myself by a strange sinking of my feet. My first confused idea was that the soil had given way from the edge of the cliff, upon whose utmost verge I stood, and that I was about to be precipitated to the bottom. I became dizzy with horror, for I felt at once that I could not recover myself, so sudden was the caving in of the earth beneath me. I made one stumble forward, felt a ringing and crushing in my ears, and then I lost all further sensation.

It must have been many hours before I was sufficiently conscious to know that I still existed. Sick and bruised, I was long unable to raise myself from the prostrate position in which I became aware at last, that I was lying. It was quite dark, and every portion of earth or stone that I touched was wet, and a smell of damp salt pervaded the close atmosphere. I thought I had fallen into an exhausted salt mine, but soon remembered that I had been standing on the edge of the cliff. It was an impossibility. Then came the idea that I must have fallen to the bottom and the loose earth and stones had fallen over me. That, too, I soon found equally unlikely, and after groping about some time on my hands and knees, (every movement one of intense agony) I became sure that my prison was a cave of some extent. Too weak to move further, I lay down and endeavored to think of my position. It seemed a hopeless one. I was certainly in one of those caves formed in the salt rocks, and sometimes found by miners, running far below the earth's surface. I had no idea how far I had fallen; it might be but a few feet; it might be many hundred. As yet I could find no trace of the passage through which I had dropped, but I remembered that I had a case of matches in my pocket, and it was not long before I succeeded in dragging them out, though it was excruciating pain to my bruised limbs to move them.

Having no taper, I determined to be very careful of the matches, and to improve the short moment of light, during which one would last, I rubbed it very carefully against the sole of my boot, then harder, then furiously—but it would not ignite. Then I tried another with no better success. They were too damp—everything was damp; the matches were useless. With a faint hope of drying them in time, I put the box into my breast, and buttoned my vest over it. What with my failure in procuring a light, and the pain of my bruises, added to my terror and bewilderment of mind, I suffered intensely. Through all, it became clear to me that instead of falling over I had fallen through the cliff—strange as it was that hollow ground should occur so near the edge without the external wall of the cliff caving in towards it. The space through which I had fallen must have been narrow, for my body was bruised and the skin torn from my sides, with strips of my clothing; that I could feel. Oh! for a light to examine better into my miserable position; but, after all, I did not feel without hope. I could not lose the idea that I was to hit upon some means or way of escape, if I could only get the matches to ignite, and show me the size and form of the cave.

Worn out with pain and thought I must have slept. I awoke with a raging thirst, and, almost at the same time, I became sure I heard the dropping of water. I dragged myself towards the sound, stretched out my hand, and drops from above fell upon it; eagerly I swallowed a few which burned my throat; they were distilled brine—salt as any impregnation of water could possibly be!

The disappointment crushed me terribly. I should die of thirst ere I had found a mode of exit. I thought of the matches, and tried them again; in vain; this time, however, they gave forth a light smoke. In time the heat of my breast would dry them—that was a hope. I had no idea of time save that my watch had run down while I slept. I wound it up again, knowing that when it again stopped eight-and-twenty hours would have gone by. Again, on my hands and knees, I crept around, feeling by the damp walls, and as I continually approached and receded from the spot where the salt water dropped from a projecting rock, I discovered that the cave must be nearly round, and not many yards square. Having discovered this, I became more collected and resolute, and forced myself to a calm review of my position. I had to acknowledge to myself that my only chance of escape seemed the hole or crack through which I had fallen; but no ray of light betrayed that spot—earth and stones must have fallen and choked it up. Parching with thirst, and faint from bodily injuries I was almost at the point of despair, when a distant sound fell upon my ear. I listened with intense attention. Soon, more and more distinctly, I recognized the noise of machinery, the rumbling of carts, and the voices of men; then a bell rang, and, with a throb of joy, I recognized the morning summons to the laborers in the works. A night only could have passed since my leaving the outer world. Had they missed me? Alas! there was nothing to lead them to suspect the spot of my captivity. I thought of the strange disappearance of my young brother—this double bereavement would kill my poor mother; but still I was comforted by the knowledge that only a partition of rock separated me from my fellow-men. Now I could almost distinguish their voices. I felt that it was vain to hope that my calls and shouts could be heard by them, yet I could not forbear shouting till I was quite exhausted.

Then I reflected the means I could find of digging away the barrier of rock. It could not be thick—I knew that by my faculty in hearing sound, and concluded that, as I had fallen close to the edge of the cliff, I had sunk straight down to the level of the valley at its foot, and possibly the wall of my prison was not more than two or three feet in thickness. But I had no implement save my knife, and that was a slender one, quite inadequate to cutting a passage through even the soft and damp salt rock which formed the partition.—Suddenly I remembered having picked up a heavy iron ox shoe on the road, during my Sunday walk. It was still in my pocket. With what joy I pulled it out, and commenced eagerly my work.

I will not detail the agonies of those days and nights, when I worked on in the darkness, sometimes encouraged, sometimes nearly hopeless. I could not find that I made any visible progress; and sounds were nearer than at first, and I was growing hourly more exhausted from fatigue and burning thirst. The salt air of the cave inflamed my eyes, parched my skin, and excoriated my throat, and often I had a horrible idea that I should go mad; I had wound up my watch five times, therefore it must have been the sixth day—deliverance as far off as ever. I had been trying to loosen a fragment of rock which seemed somewhat detached from the strata, (this I could only judge by my feeling.) If I succeeded, I should much reduce the thickness of the barrier at that point, but I had to stop and rest for the final trial. I again tried my matches.—I had constantly done so hitherto, but without success, and few remained; but now the third one that I tried gave forth a light smoke, then a blue flame, and finally a clear red light. I held it carefully and beheld the cavern in which I was immured. It was a small one, and sparkling from the saline crystals, as if studded in geme. Opposite to me was a dark object, on a projection of the shelving rock, and bearing a similarity to the outline of a human figure. I lifted high the expiring match, and by its last ray. I saw a human face.

In a frenzy of impatience I tried a few remaining matches, in vain; the last one was in my hand; more carefully I drew it over the sand-paper; it burned only for an instant; but in that instant, holding it directly even with the body, I recognized the dead, pale face of my poor, lost brother Henry.

I was again in darkness, with the dead body and my frenzied thoughts. After a time I resumed fiercely my labor at the rock. A few more blows loosened it; a few more and the large mass rolled inwards, and from a fissure in the rock which lay behind it, came in a narrow streak of daylight. I was almost mad, or I would not have had sufficient strength to effect my purpose.

By the aid of my ox-shoe, I soon increased the hole, till it was large enough to admit my head. My shouts soon brought assistance from the works, to which, as I had supposed, I was very near, and soon from that fearful tomb were drawn the living and the dead bodies.

No one knew me till I spoke. The body of poor Henry had been preserved by the salt, and was also partly petrified. That he had been killed by the fall was evident, and had never moved from the ridge on which he fell. I never entirely recovered from the effect of the salt, which left my eyes and nose constantly red, and rendered my flesh ever after similar to corned pork.

☞ He who gives pleasure, meets with it. Kindness is the bond of friendship, and the rivulet of love; he who sows not, reaps not.

Imprisoned in a Vault 18 Years.

A newspaper published at Colema, Mexico, on the 24th of October, tells the following frightful story, and calls upon the public to punish the criminals:—When Gen. Pueblita entered the town of Ayo, in September last, he exacted a forced loan from the people, and a share of it fell upon the curate of the place. The curate acted as though he would pay, but he did not make his appearance at the point designated for payment, and Gen. Pueblita ordered him to be arrested. A party of men went to his dwelling and knocked at the door; there was no answer, and they broke in. They found no one in the house, and were about to leave it, when they heard a frightful voice, proceeding from the ground, saying, "I am hungry!" The officer in command went back to Gen. Pueblita and told him about the voice. The General appointed a commission to examine the house. This commission went to the curate's dwelling, and, after a careful examination, they found a moveable stone in the floor, and under this was a stairway leading down to a vault, which was entirely dark, and had no connection with the air, save by the staircase, and a small hole that served as a ventilator. In this vault some books, a few articles of furniture, and a woman who had been shut up there for eighteen years. She was taken to Gen. Pueblita's quarters. When brought into the light, where she saw a number of persons, she fainted. After she had returned to her senses, a thousand questions were asked of her, to which she replied only that she had been buried in that vault for eighteen years, without going out for a moment; that she had been married, and had children by her husband, but she knew nothing of their fate; that, while imprisoned in the vault, she had children by the curate, but she knew nothing of what had become of these children; and after saying this much she became obstinately silent. While this was passing, a sergeant of the Pueblita Brigade, then present, discovered that this woman was his mother, and she recognized him as her son and embraced him. The son then ran to his father, who came and recognized his wife. The husband, fifteen years ago, was imprisoned three years under charge of having murdered his wife, this woman.

A Bear Story.

A correspondent of the Louisville Journal furnishes that paper with the following adventure with a "bar:" "You know that down in Arkansaw is a greate many bars. Well, last winter, when I was down at Cousin Joe's, I had hearn of a bar in that neighborhood that had been round them diggins for some time. A fellow down thar had his son eat up by him when he went to gether corn, and he had dun considerable other damage in them parts. Well, the boys made up a pus of twenty dollars fur any one who'd ketch the bar or bring his karkis into town. One night I had started out to hunt some coons, and hadn't gone fur, before going into a little strip of timber, I saw the black, shaggy thief coming right arter me. Joe he hollered. "Thar, he's a comin!" and I fired right at him. This made the darned critter mad, and he drove right at me. I tuk fur a small beech near by and throwed my gun down and clum up it. Well, gentlemen, that are bar kept me up thar till near daylight, and Joe he had gone on to the house and told how funny I was fixed up thar. I was mighty mad at the feller, but he only laughed when I said anything about it.—Well, I was determined to get the bar fur what he had done me, so I bought a whole lot of rum and got some honey and mixed it all up together in a whisky barl what I had sawed in two. I got a nigger, and we went down to the spring whar the bar was seen, and puts the tub of punch down thar; thinks I, that will sweeten him; so after supper, it was a moonlight night, I goes up to a tree near thar, and by-and-by Mr. Bar comes up and takes a long guzzle.

In about fifteen minutes, sir, Mr. Bar was as drunk as one of them Legislater feilers what goes to the capital to drink whiskey and make laws ever gits; thar he laid and groaned and kicked and throwed up his eyes jist as natral as a humane be-in when he don't know what hurt him.—It was powerful bad to see so much liker thrown away on a drunken beast, but I wanted to pay him up for his tricks, so I got down and tied him up, and put him on a wagon and brought him up to town. I got my twenty, and I'll tell you if we didn't got tight that night they aint no snakes.

FAT MEAT MORE SOLID THAN LEAN.—Messrs. Lawes and Gilbert, English agricultural chemists, have, after long experiments, established the fact that the proportion of solid matter is much greater in fat animals than in lean; that while in a lean ox the proportion of water is often two-thirds, in a fat one it is often less than half. This shows the great economy of purchasing fat meat, although, of course, the proportion of mineral and nitrogenous matter in lean beef is greater than in solid.

GOOD AND BAD NEWS.—Bad news weakens the action of the heart, oppresses the lungs, destroys the appetite, stops the digestion, and partially suspends all the functions of the system. An emotion of shame flushes the face; fear blanches, joy illuminates it; an instant thrill electrifies a million of nerves. Surprise spurs the pulse into a gallop. Delirium infuses great energy. Volition commands, and hundreds of muscles spring to excite.—Powerful emotions often kill the body at a stroke. Chilo, Diagoras and Sophocles, died of joy at the Grecian games. The news of defeat killed Philip V. One of the popes died of an emotion of the ludicrous, on seeing his pet monkey robed in pontificals occupying the chair of state. Muley Moloch was carried upon the field of battle in the first stages of an incurable disease; upon seeing his army give way, he rallied his panic-stricken troops, rolled back the tide of battle, shouted victory, and died. The doorkeeper of Congress expired on hearing of the surrender of Cornwallis. Eminent public speakers have often died in the midst of an impassioned burst of eloquence, or when the deep emotion that produced it has suddenly subsided.

RUSSIAN BABIES.—It is said that the Russian babies look like so many idols with their heads carved out, and the rest of the body left in a block. This appearance is caused by their being rolled up in tight bandages, leaving only the head out, that they may be put away out of mischief and danger. On going into a Russian house, you may find one little fellow left on a shelf, another hung to the wall on a peg, and the third hung over one of the main beams of the roof, and rocked by the mother who has the cord looped over her feet. "Why, that is a child!" you exclaim, looking close, to be sure you are not mistaken. "Of course—what should it be?" answers the mother. Yes, sure enough, it is a child, but so dirty that you cannot help asking—"When was it washed?" "Washed!" shrieks the mother, "washed!" "What? wash a child? you would kill it!"

TOBACCO FOR BOYS.—A strong writer administers a wholesome dose to the boy chewers and puffers, assuring them that tobacco has spoiled and utterly ruined thousands of boys, inducing a dangerous precocity; devcloping the passions, softening the bones, greatly injuring the spinal marrow, the brain and the whole nervous fluid. A boy who early and frequently uses cigars, or in any way uses large quantities of tobacco, never becomes a man of much energy of character, and is generally deficient of physical and muscular, as well as mental energy. We would particularly warn boys, who want to be anybody in the world, to shun tobacco as a most baneful poison.—Reading Daily Times.

CO-OPERATION OF THE WIFE.—No man ever yet prospered in the world without the co-operation of his wife. If she unites in mutual endeavors to reward his labors with an endearing smile, with what confidence will he resort to his merchandise or his farm, fly over lands, sail upon seas, meet difficulty and encounter danger, if he knows he is not spending his strength in vain, but that his labor will be rewarded by the sweets of home! Solicitude and disappointment enter the history of every man's life, and he is but half provided for his voyage who finds but an associate for happy hours, while, for his months of darkness and distress, no sympathising partner is prepared.

☞ Try what you can make of the broken fragments of time. Glean up its golden dust—those raspings and parings of precious duration, those leavings of days and remnants of hours which so many sweep out into the waste of existence. Perhaps, if you be a miser of moments, if you be frugal and hoard up odd minutes and half-hours and unexpected holidays, your careful gleanings may eke out a long and useful life, and you may die at last richer in existence than multitudes whose time is all their own.

Now.—"Now" is the constant syllable ticking from the clock of time. "Now" is on the banner of the prudent. Let us keep this little word always in our mind, and whenever anything presents itself to us in the shape of work, whether mental or physical, we should do it with all our might, remembering that "Now" is the only time for us. It is, indeed, a sorry way to get through the world, by putting off till to-morrow, saying, "Then" I will do it. No! this will never answer.—"Now" is ours; "Then" may never be.

☞ It is not well to be too hasty in believing or objecting to what is reported; to be able to suspend our judgment for awhile will save us many an error.

☞ Physicians in India raise blisters with red hot irons, and dress them with cayenne pepper. If such treatment does not make people "smart," we imagine nothing else would.

SPEAKER ELECTED.

Well, the grand farce has been played out at Washington, and a Speaker has at last been elected. During the latter part of last week an the first three days of the present week, the country was in a most glorious state of uncertainty, because of the changing of candidates and curious amalgamations, and many were the surmises and predictions with reference to who would eventually be selected to fill the Speaker's Chair. On Friday afternoon last, the news came over the telegraphic wires that Smith, of N. C., a South American, had been elected, and great was the joy of the members of that party. But their rejoicing was of short duration. The next morning the wires conveyed the intelligence that Mr. Smith lacked one vote of an election. Speculation was now at fault. That an election would soon be effected all felt certain, but who would be the man was the question. Yesterday afternoon the wires brought us the intelligence that Wm. Pennington, of New Jersey, Old Line Whig, had been elected Speaker, and John W. Forney, clerk.—This is all the information we have on the subject at present and, should the report remain without contradiction until our paper is circulated, we shall be induced to believe it correct, and shall give the balloting, &c., in our next.

LEGISLATIVE EXCURSION.—The Legislatures of Kentucky, Tennessee and Indiana, together with the Governors and heads of departments of those States, lately visited the Legislature of Ohio, at Columbus. The delegation consisted of five hundred persons. The excursionists came up the Ohio, to Cincinnati, on a steamer, and were met a short distance below that city by two steamers filled with Cincinnatians, with bands of music, and streamers flying. Great preparations were made for their reception at Columbus. They were conveyed over the Miami Railroad in a special train. On their arrival at Columbus a national salute was fired, and they were met by the members of the Legislature, military and citizens, and escorted to the State House. Such a meeting of the official bodies of two Southern and two Northern States will undoubtedly have a tendency to destroy much of the feeling of animosity lately engendered.

SMALL NOTE LAW.—A bill has been introduced into the Senate of Pennsylvania, the object of which is to prohibit the circulation of bank-notes of a less denomination than $5 in the State. It requires that all persons, such as merchants, hotelkeepers, and, in fact, every one engaged in a business where there is necessarily much receiving and paying out of money, shall appear before the County Treasurer and make oath that he or they will not pay out or circulate bank-notes of a less denomination than $5; whereupon the said Treasurer grants him or them a license to carry on their business, whatsoever it may be. No action has yet been taken on the subject in either House. It is now the law of Virginia, and it is said has worked well.

☞ The Atlantic Monthly for February came to hand at the proper time, but we have neglected to notice it. The number before us fully sustains the high reputation this publication has acquired. Nothing but that which is really interesting or instructive finds a place in it. It must be read to be appreciated; and many of the articles contained therein may be re-read with profit. Price $3,00 per annum. Published at Boston.

EDICT AGAINST CRINOLINE.—The Cardinal Vicor of Rome has issued an edict forbidding ladies to go to church in crinoline. The confessor is to forbid them to present themselves at the altar to take the sacrament, unless they are dressed in a simple manner.

Liability of Husbands.

It is not an unusual thing to see an advertisement published by the husband of some truant wife, cautioning the public not to trust her on his account, as he will pay no debts of her contracting, and it is generally supposed that such an advertisement is sufficient to relieve the husband from all liability for the payment of such debts. This, it seems, is a mistake. An interesting decision was made last week, by Justice Sanford, at Newark, N. J., in a civil suit. One man sued another for the payment for the board of his wife for sixteen months at six dollars a month. The defendant set up that that he had advertised his wife, and given public notice that he would pay no debts of her contracting. The justice decided that while this might serve as a warning, it was no legal way of getting clear of the wife's liabilities—that the husband, in the eyes of the law, was liable for the wife's debts, so long as she continued such. Judgment was accordingly given for the plaintiff in the full amount claimed. Thus it would seem, that so far only as such a notice deters others from giving credit to a wife so advertissed, does it amount to anything. But if she can get credit and the husband is worth anything, he is bound in law to "fork over." We think the decision right. When a man marries he takes his wife for "better and worse," and if he makes a bad bargain in matrimony, he should stand by it as in any other contract. Wives are often advertised by worthless husbands, from bad motives, as for any other reason, and this decision will protect all good wives from such an outrage upon their rights.

The above we find going the rounds of newspaperdom, and deem it right that we should give our readers the benefit of the information contained therein. We are not disposed to question the legality of the decision when applied to such cases as are mentioned in the last sentence of the extract quoted, but we think there are cases in which it would not be just. We remember a case which occurred in this place not long since, in which such a decision would, we believe, be entirely wrong. A woman who had nothing but two children, formed a matrimonial alliance with a man who possessed a little property in his own name, which, we feel sure, could have been the only charm he possessed. After living with him some two weeks, she deserted his bed and board, but continued to make purchases for herself and children on his account. It would seem that she had married him for the single purpose of making him responsible for her debts, and that she did not intend to live with him. He complained of her leaving his bed just at a time when a bedfellow was most needed, and very naturally refused to pay bills of her contracting, unless she would return to him. As has been the custom heretofore, he advertised her, and we believe that, were he to be sued for debts of her contracting since the date of the publication of the caution to the public, and a decision as above to be given, it would be unjust, although it might be legal. We believe women marry men, as often as men advertise their wives, from bad motives, and that a decision which would be right in one case would be wrong in another; consequently the decision above should not be considered as settling the question of a husband's liability for his wife's debts.

Letter from Harrisburg.

Correspondence of the Tribune.

HARRISBURG, Jan. 31, 1860.

A long array of petitions rolled in again today, on divers subjects—many of which the august committees will never do the honor of opening, especially those asking for the abolition of the office of County Superintendent, and those asking for the passage of an unconstitutional "personal liberty" bill.

I have heard of a scheme on foot for the formation of a new county out of parts of Cambria, Clearfield, Huntingdon, Centre, and Blair, to be called Logan, and Tyrone City to be the county seat. The whole thing looks exceedingly nice mapped out to suit those who are pecuniarily interested, and there is no doubt but the townships proposed to be taken for this purpose would form a very neat little county—but, will the counties thus to be curtailed of their fair proportions, submit to it, without a kick, at least? Blair won't I know, for it is conceded thet this county is already small enough. But where is the use of talking?—they could not carve out a new county that would meet the requisition of the late amendment to the Constitution.

To-day the Committee on Vice and Immorality reported a bill entitled an "An Act to prevent recovery for the sale of adulterated liquors."—This is a wholesome law. A case was tried in Lancaster last fall, in which a liquor dealer tried to recover by law for a number of barrels of "Old Rye." The defendant proved the "old rye" to have been nothing but strychnine cornjuice, and so the plaintiff failed to get a verdict. This action was tried at common law. What is now proposed is a special law to meet the case at once, and will be a good one—providing it will not, like only too many others, be a dead letter upon our statute books.

I see that the Senatorial delegate from your district is instructed to go for Calvin first, and for Curtin next. If all of Mr. Calvin's delegates vote for Col. Curtin on the second ballot, there will be no occasion for a third ballot. He is gaining strength daily, and his nomination is now universally conceded.

The Board of Revenue Commissioners meet here on Thursday next, and some of them have already arrived. Their session will last some four weeks, during which time they will fix the county rates and levies of each county in the Commonwealth. It is confidently expected that the State tax will be reduced to two mills. The flourishing condition of the finances of the State it is believed, will justify such a reduction.

To-day an act passed the Senate relative to challenging jurors, (on second reading) in civil cases. Its provisions allow both plaintiffs and defendants four peremptory challenges.

There has been very little worthy of note transpired here yet, but we live in hope, and I am very much mistaken if busines does not begin to look up amazingly before the week is out.

Yours, LOGAN.

PEN AND SCISSORS.

☞ Scarlet—the scarlet fever in and about Tyrone.

☞ George Herrick, of this place, has taken charge of the Tipton Hotel.

☞ The State Editorial Union meets in Harrisburg on the 15th of February.

☞ The total number of emigrants carried over the Penn'a R. R., during 1859, was 14,359.

☞ Col. A. G Curtin has been elected President of the Clearfield and Tyrone Railroad.

☞ Off the track—the editor of the Tyrone Star, as to who is the author of our Harrisburg letters.

☞ Rev. Dr. Junkin, of Hollidaysburg, has been elected a Vice President of the Pennsylvania Historical Society.

☞ Patrick Kelley, of Philadelphia, shipped $75,000 worth of horses from this county to Philadelphia during the last year.

☞ Two deaths occurred from the explosions of camphene lamps, in this State, last week—one in Columbia and the other in Lancaster county.

☞ The reply of the School Directors of Gaysport, to the card of school teacher Scott, puts a different face on the affair. Somebody has been imitating Tom Pepper.

☞ Two hundred and thirty-seven tons of coal were brought down to Huntingdon, from Broad Top mines, in one day, last week.

☞ A little daughter of Mr. Aultz, of Lewistown, died recently from the effects, it is supposed, of a new tent, which she swallowed some time since.

☞ Mr. George Boyer, of Bald Eagle Furnace, broke his leg above the knee, by falling on the ice, on Saturday week. He is now lying in a critical situation.

☞ There is a man in Cincinnati in possession of a powerful memory. He is employed by the Humane Society to remember the poor.

☞ The term "Linsey Woolsey," is derived from the old Saxon phrase "Linnen hic—woolen hic," viz: Flax is here—wool is here—a stuff composed of both materials.

☞ Ex-Mayor Henry D. Gilpin, of Philadelphia, died in that city on Sunday morning last. The deceased was U. S. Attorney General under President Van Buren.

☞ Francis Mitchell, porter of the steamship Marion, was sentenced to be hung in Charleston, S. C., on the 24 of March, for assisting a slave in his attempt to leave the State.

☞ Col. McGinnes, of Bourbon county, Ky., passed through Covington, en route for Cincinnati, on the 14th ult., with fourteen slaves, intending to emancipate them there.

☞ The Lowistown Gazette says that a wagon load of deer passed through that town on last Tuesday. If they were not killed out of season, we think the late mild weather would render them a little stale.

☞ Rev. Peter Cartright, the Pioneer of Methodism in the West, has lately been lecturing in Harrisburg, Carlisle, Chambersburg and several other places. We would like to hear him lecture in this place.

☞ Had the man who attempted to butt the bull off the bridge been entirely as thick-headed as the bull of the "Standard Dutch breed," it would not require evidence to satisfy us that he succeeded.

☞ A Legislative Prayer Meeting has been organized at Harrisburg, for the special benefit of the members. It meets at 8 o'clock every morning, and is actively participated in by a number of the members, and the clergymen of that place.

☞ Next Tuesday week is St. Valentine's Day. Between this and that day we presume any number of love missives will be exchanged. We hope to note a large decrease in the number of vulgar and obscene engravings usually sold about this time.

☞ The new treasurer of the State of Minnesota, in taking possession of that department, was put in possession of two three cent pieces in specie, and $1,014 in bills of broken and worthless banks. He proposes to hand the identical coin over to the Historical Society.

☞ Professor Espy, whose theory of storms has been the subject of so much scientific discussion, died in Cincinnati, on Wednesday. He was for many years employed as a government meteorologist, and in former years a teacher in Philadelphia. He was a man of considerable scientific attainments.

☞ Master George W. Plummer, of Tyrone, is announced to deliver a series of lectures in that place and the towns adjoining, during the winter. The proceeds of which will be devoted to the education of his brother, who was maimed at the Hollidaysburg encampment, a few years since. George is only 14 years old.

☞ A physician of Milwaukie, Wisconsin, lately made a partially new nose for a man named Ward. The doctor cut a piece of flesh from the patient's arm and attached it to his nose, and having, by a process peculiar to such operations, covered it with cuticle, in a few days he had as sound and good-looking a nose as ever the natural one was.

☞ A distillery and three dwelling houses were recently destroyed by fire in Pittsburg. Sorry for the dwellings but not for the distillery. Could chronicle the destruction of every one of the last named institutions in the country without a feeling of regret, but with a well founded conviction that frail humanity would be benefitted thereby.

☞ How true that is! Many covet wealth, and in spite of all obstacles, obtain that which they desire; but it is not sufficient, and in after years, with breaking hearts, they will pine for love and sympathy in the midst of all the splendor which their wealth has given them. Better far choose a noble heart, and dwell contented in an humble home.

☞ Gov. Whitaker, of Oregon, having refused to appoint a day for Thanksgiving in November, a delegation of seventy-five ladies waited upon him, and, in compliance with their request, he came out with a short and crusty proclamation, setting apart the 29th of December "to be observed in such a manner as the citizens may deem most appropriate."

☞ The editor of the Juniata Register has turned his attention to playing jackal for the "little jokers." "Birds of a feather," &c.—Standard

We respectfully beg leave to decline the soft impeachment. But us in any case but that, Mr. Standard. 'Twas your side he meant to shinney on, but didn't know how to do it.

HENRY WARD BEECHER ON "POLITICS AND RELIGION."—In a recent lecture on this theme, in New York, Beecher pointed out at great length the duties of ministers in respect to infusing the religious elements into politics, and poured a torrent of ridicule upon the pulpits that ignored the importance of politico-religious teaching.—He said the country was more indebted to the secular newspaper for the spread of religious news than to the professedly religious journals. He also advocated a judicious application of religious principle, not only to politics, but to all the duties of life, and expressed the opinion that until woman goes hand-in hand with man to the ballot-box, nothing like political purity will be attained.

THE WISE CONSPIRACY IN 1856.—At a recent Union meeting in Knoxville, Tenn., Judge Bailey, formerly of Georgia, made a speech, in noticing which the Whig of that city remarks:

"The Judge made one startling disclosure which was entirely new to us. He said that during the Presidential contest Gov. Wise had addressed letters to all the Southern Governors—and that the one to the Governor of Florida had been shown to him—in which Wise said that he had an army in readiness to prevent Fremont from taking his seat, if elected, and asking the co-operation of those to whom he wrote!"

ANOTHER MAIL ROBBER ARRESTED.—United States Deputy Marshal Dougherty arrested a young man named Bartley Thompson, at Huntingdon, on Monday, on a charge of robbing the post office at Mill Creek, in Huntingdon county. The post office is kept in a dry goods store, and Thompson, as is alleged, besides carrying off a number of letters, also appropriated to himself some dry goods, which were found in the woods where he was in the habit of loafing. A lock and key, belonging to the mail bag in the post office, were found on him. Thompson is now in jail in Pittsburg, awaiting trial. It is said that he hails from Lancaster county.

Sleeping With a Dead Person.

A Philadelphia paper say: We were put in possession of the facts of a case, a few days ago and assured of their authenticity, which cause our blood to run cold upon every recurrence of them to our memory. A young man returning at a late hour, slightly inebriated, to his boarding place, a house in a row of buildings exactly alike in ——street, entered by mistake the house adjoining the one in which he lived.—Groping his way in the dark up to the second floor, he unlocked what he supposed to be his own room door, and entered. He could find no matches, undressed himself, tumbled into bed and was almost immediately in a hasty stupor. Some time in the night he was awakened by the contact of a cold body, and being sobered, was enabled to see by the rays of the moon in the bed with him a dead man! The truth flashed upon him immediately, he bounded from the bed, donned his clothes and rushed from the house, never waiting to lock the doors. The day previous a person had died in the house next to his landlady's. The body had been habited in grave clothes, and locked up in the room in which the intruder found it. He had not noticed the hardness of the bed, nor its scanty covering, but laid down and slept several hours with the dead body. The young man says the experience of that night has taught him a lesson which temperance lectures never could.

Wrestling with an Elephant.

A rather curious scene occurred in Philadelphia, on Monday evening during the performance in the menagerie. A young man, who had for some time been carefully observing the monster elephant, determined, like a fighting gladiator of old, to try the strength of the huge bulk of flesh with his own. There is at the end of the elephant's tusks, which are of large size, an iron rod, binding one tusk to the other. Our hero seized hold of this, and leaned his whole weight upon it. The elephant not altogether liking this sort of treatment, determined for his part to punish his antagonist. He raised his great head aloft, and the young fellow was swung from the ground until he almost touched the canvass covering, and was no doubt much higher than his most wild ambition ever carried him. The animal repeated this, and a second time he descended to the ground, when the elephant, perhaps thinking it best to temper justice with mercy, wrapped his trunk round the hapless and now thoroughly humbled youth, and very unceremoniously laid him in the mud that overspread the floor. The wrestle was ended, the elephant coming off the victor, while his combatant picked himself up, and, amidst the hearty laughter of the spectators, vanished.

HEARD FROM.—Adam Kemerer, the defaulting and absconding Millville Constable, returned to the home of his father, in Westmoreland county, some week or two ago. Soon after his return, he wrote to his wife at this place, requesting her to come to him, and telling her that he was the victim of misplaced confidence. His story is, that while on his way to Blair county to execute a warrant, he fell in with several Englishmen, who induced him to accompany them to Canada. After his arrival there, his new friends further induced him to try his hand at a little game of cards. Being but a novice in the tricks of the game, his companions always managed to hold the best hands, and finally "sewed him up." In short, they cheated him out of all his money, not leaving him enough to come home with. He also says he wrote to his wife from Canada, informing her of his whereabouts and misfortune, but so far as we can learn no such letter was ever received by her. This, however, is his story, and we give him the benefit of it without comment.—Our readers, who are acquinted with the circumstances of his disappearance, can form their own opinion as to its probability. His wife has complied with his request, and is now with him in Westmoreland county.—Johnstown Tribune.

A RESPECTABLE SCOUNDREL.—A clerk, or salesman, in the large mercantile establishment of Wood, Morrell & Co., Johnstown, named Stephen G. Evans, was detected and arrested, some two weeks ago, while on a wedding tour in Philadelphia, for robbing the Company of a considerable sum of money. It is not known to what extent he carried his thefts, as he was a very fast young man, but the amount of nineteen hundred dollars was traced to him—thirteen hundred of which he was forced to disgorge, and his note taken for the balance, when he was permitted to depart. "Steve," says the Echo, "played the respectable so well, and assumed so many winning ways, as to enable him to captivate and marry one of the gayest of our gay belles—the daughter of one of our most worthy and respectable citizens. The gay young buck was too respectably connected, and the amount stolen was too large, to justify a prosecution. It is only when a wretched, destitute urchin purloins a small sum, or when some poor man or woman steals a ham for a famished family, that a prosecution and punishment is deemed necessary."

☞ Mr. D. W. Roy, editor of the Vicksburg Sun, was shot dead, last week, by Daniel S. Shepherd. The latter was employed as bookkeeper in the Sun office. Mr. Roy held the office of collector of the port at Vicksburg, and entrusted all his business to Shepherd. While Shephard was on his bridal tour, a few weeks since, Mr Roy caused him to be arrested, in New Orleans, on a charge of embezzlement.—Shepherd was released on a writ of habeas corpus, and, immediately proceeding to Vicksburg, demanded an investigation. He was examined and acquitted.

HEALTH RULES.—The celebrated Abernethy's rules for the preservation of health were simply the following; "Keep the feet warm, the head cool and the bowels open." The Indians understand fully the necessity of protecting the feet; and although many tribes dressed so scantily as to appear almost naked, yet their feet were guarded by well used mocassins. And when they repose in their wigwams they always lie down with their feet towards the fire. When travelling and obliged to encamp in the open air, they dig a hole in the ground, in which they build a fire, and then lie down in a circle, and each one hangs his feet and and ankles in the hole.

FAST TRAVELLING.—On Tuesday evening, the 24th ult., says the Brookville Jeffersonian, a number of invitation cards were received by the printers of this place, to attend a banquet and ball in Pittsburg, off the 17th of January, the birth-day of Benjamin Franklin. As a matter of course no one attended, as the invitations were received seven days after the ball took place. These letters each bear the postmark at Pittsburgh, January 10, and were only fourteen days in coming ninety miles. This is the way business is done between Pittsburgh and this county. Passengers come through in 28 hours, whilst the mail is nearly as many days.

SINGULAR DEATH.—A little son of Mr. Briggs, of Olmstead, Cuyahoga county, Ohio, came to his death in a singular manner last week. His father, who was dressing hogs, had placed him in the branches of an apple-tree near by, where he could look on and be out of the way. The lad was perched near by his father, and directly over where persons frequently passed in carrying hot water, &c. Nothing unusual was observed, but when, after some time, the father lifted down his little son, to his horror he found him dead! The cloak had caught on a limb and strangled the child.

SPECIAL NOTICES.

Benevolence.

We do not think a person can evince a more benevolent trait of character than being moved at the distress and sufferings of others, and furthermore, anxious to do all in their power to alleviate by every possible means human suffering. In this view of the case, we do not know how the humane and benevolent can do an action more in accordance with their philanthrophic views, than by calling the attention of their afflicted friends and acquaintances to the fact, that Dr. SETH S. HANCE, of 108 Baltimore street, Baltimore, M. D. has discovered a preparation, which is put up in the form of a pill, that has a specific action for curing Epilepsy, or falling fits, spasms, cramps, and all forms of nervous diseases. Among those who have been permanently cured, we might mention a member of the family of James H. Beadle, Huntsville, Alabama; Mr. M. P. Sledge, Cabin Point, Surry county, Va., and Mr. W. P. Ligon, Grenada, Mississippi. We might go on enumerating a number of others, until we had entirely filled up this column of our paper; but we think we have said sufficient to satisfy every person that the subject under consideration is one of vital importance to every one. Reader! if you are a well man or woman, and have no need of a remedy, perhaps you know some person who is not equally blessed as yourself, if so, cut out this notice, and send it to him or her. It will cost you but little trouble, and probably it will make you instrumental in curing some poor, afflicted mortal of that dreadful visitation, Epilepsy, or falling sickness.

Dr. Hance sends his pills by mail, free of postage, to all parts of the world, on the receipt of a remittance. His prices are: one box, $3; two, $5; twelve, $24. We have given his address above.

IMPORTANT TO FEMALES.

DR. CHEESEMAN'S PILLS.

The combination of ingredients in those Pills are the result of a long and extensive practice. They are mild in their operation, and certain in correcting all irregularities Painful Menstruations, removing all obstructions, whether from cold or otherwise, headache, pain in the side, palpitation of the heart, whites, all nervous affections, hysterics, fatigue, pain in the back and limbs, &c., disturbed sleep, which arise from interruption of nature.

DR. CHEESEMAN'S PILLS

was the commencement of a new era in the treatment of these irregularities and obstructions which have consigned so many thousands of the young, the beautiful, and the beloved to a premature grave. No female can enjoy good health unless she is regular, and whenever an obstruction takes place the general health begins to decline.

DR. CHEESEMAN'S PILLS

are the most effectual remedy ever known for all complaints peculiar to Females. To all classes they are invaluable, inducing, with certainty, periodicall regularity. They are known to thousands, who have used them at different periods, throughout the country: having the sanction of some of the most eminent Physicians in America.

Dr. M'Lane's Celebrated Liver Pills:

☞ Being unwell, and not knowing whether it proceeded from derangement of the liver or merely hysterics I was persuaded to purchase a box of Dr. M'LANES CELEBRATED LIVER PILLS, prepared by Fleming Bros., Pittsburgh, and before I had used them all, was entirely relieved. I am now enjoying perfect health, and cheerfully recommend Dr. M'Lane's Celebrated Liver Pills to all similarly afflicted.

☞ It is a common observation that there are more sufferers from debility, among Americans, than can be found among any other civilized nation. The reason is obvious. We take too little exercise, and forget the wants of the body in the absorbing pursuits of business. In all such cases, ordinary medicine can do little good. What is required is just such a tonic and invigorator as Dr. J Hostetter has given to the world, in his CELEBRATED "BITTERS." The weak and nervous denizen of the counting-house, the exhausted toiler upon the shop-board, and the prostrated student of the midnight lamp, have found a wonderful regenerator in the "BITTERS," and prefer it to more pretentious, but less efficacious medicines. But it should not be forgotten that the agent which is so magical in its influence upon a frame which is merely debilitated, is equally powerful in assisting nature to expel the most terrible forms of disease. Who will not give it a trial?

Sold by druggists and dealers everywhere.

☞ "OH THAT THE SKIN of an innocent sheep should be made into parchment, and written on to the undoing of a man!" quoth Shakspeare. He might also have deplored the ruining of men's farms by the uncouth manner in which some ungracious tailors butcher up the cloth made from the wool grown by these same harmless sheep. To see the perfection of the art of working up cloth wisely and well, and so as to set off to the best advantage the forms of its wearers, call at the Brown Stone Clothing Hall of Rockhill & Wilson, Nos. 603 and 605 Chestnut St., above Sixth, Phila. and examine their stock of garments for gentlemen and youths.

GERMAN BITTERS, AND
DR. HOOFLAND'S BALSAMIC CORDIAL,

The great standard medicines of the present age, have acquired their great popularity only through years of trial. Unbounded satisfaction is rendered by them in all cases; and the people have pronounced them worthy.

Liver Complaint, Dyspepsia, Jaundice, Debility of the Nervous System, Diseases of the Kidneys, and all diseases arising from a disordered liver or weakness of the stomach and digestive organs, are speedily and permanently cured by the GERMAN BITTERS.

The Balsamic Cordial has acquired a reputation surpassing that of any similar preparation extant. It will cure, WITHOUT FAIL, the most severe and long-standing

Cough, Cold, or Hoarseness, Bronchitis, Influenza, Croup, Pneumonia, Incipient Consumption, and has performed the most astonishing cure ever known of Confirmed Consumption.

A few doses will also at once check and cure the most severe Diarrhœa proceeding from COLD IN THE BOWELS.

These medicines are prepared by Dr. C. M. JACKSON & Co., No. 418 Arch Street, Philadelphia, Pa., and are sold by druggists and dealers in medicines everywhere at 75 cents per bottle. The signature of C. M. JACKSON will be on the outside wrapper of each bottle.

Senatorial Conference.

The Conferees of this Senatorial District, composed of Cambria, Blair, and Clearfield counties, assembled in Tyrone, on the 27th inst., to elect a delegate to the State Convention of the People's Party, to be held at Harrisburg, on the 22d of February.

Geo. W. Patton, Esq., of Blair, was elected President, and Wm. McBride, of Clearfield, Secretary.

Jacob M. Campbell, Esq., of Cambria, was unanimously elected the Delegate, and the following resolutions of instruction were adopted without a dissenting voice:

Resolved, That the Delegate this day elected, is hereby instructed to vote for the Hon. Samuel Calvin, of Blair county, as the candidate of the People's Party for Governor, and in the event of the name of Mr. Calvin being withdrawn, or there being no prospect of his nomination, then he shall vote for the Hon. Andrew G Curtin, of Centre county, as the only remaining choice of the majority of the people of this Senatorial District.

Resolved, That the said Delegate be further instructed to oppose by all fair and legitimate means, the selection of delegates to the National Convention, believing as we do, that it belongs of right to the people of the respective districts and to them alone.

NEW SMOKE CONSUMING LOCOMOTIVE.—One of our exchanges contains a description of a new locomotive, built by Mr. George Grier, of this place, Master Machinist of the Pennsylvania Railroad. It is constructed after a plan of Mr. Grier's designing, and is regarded by those competent to judge of such matters, as one of the most powerful and complete engines of the class ever constructed anywhere. In appearance it resembles the ordinary "camelback," or coal burning engines now in use on the eastern division of the line, with the exception that it is far more highly finished, and seems built for greater speed. Its chief recommendation however, lies not in its attractive appearance. It has other qualities which give it far more interest in the eyes of the railroad men—improvements which have long been desired in locomotives, but which it remained for Mr. Grier to successfully accomplish. It consumes its own smoke, so that instead of the vast volumes of smoke which the ordinary locomotive belches forth at each revolution, a little steam only is seen escaping from that of Mr. Grier's invention. In consuming the smoke, a great saving of fuel is effected.—She made the run from Altoona to Pittsburg, a distance of one hundred and seventeen miles, upon twenty-five bushels of coal, maintaining a high rate of speed all the time, and evincing the possession of extraordinary power. The engine is a complete success, and a triumph for Mr. Grier, of which, however high his reputation as one of the first machinists in the country, he may well feel proud.

HORRIBLE ACCIDENT.—It is with the deepest sorrow that we announce the sudden and horrible death, on Monday morning last, of Mr. William Peal, of Bloomfield, Perry county. Whilst attending to the engine in his steam tannery, in that place, he was caught by the shaft, which whirled him around about 150 times, mangling his body in a horrible manner. His breast was crushed in, his collar-bone broken, his left arm broken in three places, his toe nails and some of his finger nails torn off, and his clothes stripped from his body. He was immediately carried to his house and died in about an hour after the accident. He was one of the most wealthy and influential citizens of the place, and a kind and affectionate husband and father. He leaves a wife and four children to mourn his untimely end.

NO MORE LAGER SALOONS.—We learn that Judge Taylor has, in compliance with a remonstrance presented by the temperance people of this place, refused to grant all but one of the licenses prayed for by the keepers of lager beer saloons in this place. This action will shut up many of the saloons now open, but we doubt but there are a number open without license, and unless the temperance people keep an eye on such institutions, there will be more than one in the place after the license of those who have been refused a renewal have run out. The exception to the general refusal was the saloon of Roman Reibenack, there being in connection with it house room for the "accommodation of strangers and travellers."

CHANGED AGAIN.—We notice that the confectionery store and oyster saloon, two doors above the Post office, has again changed hands, G. W. Cunningham having sold out to John Molson. Molson says he intends to keep everything in his line, and will do all he can to entertain his customers in good style.

DEMOCRATIC MEETING.—The Democratic citizens of the Borough of Altoona are requested to meet at Shultz's Hall, on Saturday evening next, 4th inst., at 7 o'clock, for the purpose of forming a ticket for Borough officers, to be supported at the coming Spring election.

☞ A Great Cure by Dr. Keyser's Pectoral Syrup.—I live in Peebles township, Allegheny county. I had a coughing and spitting, which commenced about the 4th of February last, and continued eight months. I employed the best physicians in the county, and my cough continued unabated until early in October. At that time I was advised to try your Pectoral Cough Syrup, which I did, and after I had taken one bottle I was entirely free from coughing and spitting. I had despaired of ever getting well, and I think it should be known that this valuable remedy will do for others what it has done in my case.

JOHN C. LITTLE, Peebles township.

DUFF'S COLLEGE, Iron Buildings, Fifth Street, Pittsburg.—The Principal of this splendid establishment perseveres in the very pleasant practice of doing more for his students than he promises. That efficient training for business for which this College has so long stood pre-eminent, terminates with a two days' searching examination, and all who pass this ordeal satisfactorily are awarded (with their Diplomas) copies of "Duncan's Gems of Penmanship," the most elegant and costly work of the kind out; and an interesting and honorable termination of the relations of Professors and students.

VALENTINES! VALENTINES!!—St. Valentine has taken up his head-quarters at his old stand, Fettinger's Literary Emporium, No. 1, Altoona House, where he will be pleased to see his friends young and old, during the season. At the above stand may be found a large stock of Valentines, ranging from 1 cent to $3, consisting of comic, sentimental and artistic. Sweethearts and lovers, sisters and brothers, attend to the voice of conscience, and go to Fettinger's and buy one of those sweet little missives, which, by being applied according to directions, are a certain cure for the heart-ache.'

PROTRACTED MEETING.—Rev. Creighton commenced a protracted meeting in the M. E. Church, in this place, on Saturday evening last, which is still in progress. The nightly meetings are well attended, and it is to be hoped that they will result in doing much good. Rev. A. M. Barnitz, of Huntingdon, filled the pulpit on Sunday morning and evening. He is a well-read theologian, a deep thinker, and possesses a remarkable memory. His discourses were delivered with energy and freedom, and listened to with marked attention by a large audience.

HANIBAL AND ST. JOSEPH R. R. LANDS.—In another column will be found an advertisement offering a bargain in the lands belonging to this company. The lands lie in the northern part of Missouri, on the line of the road which extends from Hanibal, on the Mississippi river, to St. Joseph, on the Missouri river. It is reported to be a healthy region of country, well watered and wooded. Those who design emigrating to the West, might do well to examine these lands. A pamphlet containing all necessary information can be seen at this office.

☞ Wm. R. Boyers, Esq., of our town, has received and accepted the appointment from the Patent Office Department, to secure the name of the birth-place, country of birth of parents, profession or occupation, age, height and weight, of all native born white males, of eighteen years and upwards, residing in this place. The object of the department we do not know, but we presume it is to obtain the native-born population, &c., of the United States, to be part of the census of 1860.

CELLAR THIEVING.—We learn that this business has been carried on pretty extensively in this place for some time past. Quite a number of cellars and pantries have been visited and relieved of their edible contents. Who the parties are that follow this business remains a mystery. All the advice we can give citizens is to see to their bolts and bars, lest they wake up some morning and find that they have nothing for breakfast.

SKIRTS.—It is said that long skirts are going out of use, and that others which do not sweep the side-walk will take their places, but we have seen none of the new style here. Nothing looks less tidy than to see a handsome silk skirt moving down the street like a ship in full sail, towing after it half a dozen parcels of sticks, shavings, twine and loose paper. Shorter skirts are not liable to these "attachments," and therefore must look more graceful and elegant.

Tribute of Respect.

At a communication of Mountain Lodge, No. 281, A. Y. M., held on the 17th day of January, A. L, 5860, it was Resolved, That it is with feelings of the deepest regret, that we learn of the decease of our friend and brother, DAVID COUTER—so long connected with this Lodge—in whom we have always recognized a warm and zealous member of the Craft, and to whom this Lodge has been indebted for much information and instruction.

Resolved, That in his decease we humbly bow to the fiat of Him "who doeth all things well," and to His tender care we commend the family of our deceased Brother, well assured that He who "tempereth the wind to the shorn Lamb," will sustain and strengthen them in their bereavement, and be a "Father to the Fatherless, and Husband to the Widow."

Resolved, That we tender to our deceased Brother's family our services in any way or manner that may conduce to their comfort, happiness or prosperity.

Resolved, That the following committee be appointed, to wait upon the family of the deceased, with a copy of these resolutions, properly attested by the Secretary:—Geo. B. Cramer, John Cresswell, Thos. McFarlane, E H Turner.

To the Free and Independent Voters of the Borough of Altoona.

Friends and fellow-citizens—You will see by this declaration that I publicly announce myself as the People's candidate for the office of Justice of the Peace, East Ward, of the borough of Altoona. Therefore, I would most cordially solicit your suffrages, and, if elected, will endeavor to discharge the duties of the office to the best of my ability and judgment.

JOHN L. ICKES.

Altoona, Jan. 17th, 1860.

MESSRS. EDITORS:—The time is fast approaching for the spring elections. Among the offices to be elected, will be a Justice of the Peace, and since several persons are spoken of as candidates for the important office, we propose the name of William Gable, of the East Ward. Mr. Gable is a gentleman well qualified to fill the office. For integrity, industry and sobriety, he is second to none in the borough, and should be be elected the citizens will be proud of their officer.

SPECIAL NOTICE TO AGENTS.

G. G. EVANS, having purchased the stereotype plates, copyrights, etc., of the "PRINCE OF THE HOUSE OF DAVID," "PILLAR OF FIRE," etc., would call the attention of agents to these truly valuable Works.

THE "PRINCE OF THE HOUSE OF DAVID," is one of the most popular and best selling books ever published—Over 180,000 copies have been sold, and it bids fair to outrival the "PILGRIM'S PROGRESS," or any other similar work.

THE "PILLAR OF FIRE," by the same author, is now meeting with a rapid sale, over 70,000 copies have been sold since its publication, and as a companion to the "PRINCE OF THE HOUSE OF DAVID," every reader of that book should purchase a copy.

"THE RECORDS OF THE REVOLUTIONARY WAR," is a book of great interest and gives a vast amount of information relative to the Soldiers of the Revolution, and is an invaluable book of reference for the descendants of its heroes and all who are interested in Pension Claims, Land Warrants, etc., etc.

The most Liberal Inducements are offered to Agents, and upon addressing the publisher every information will be given.

A MERICAN AND FOREIGN STEREOSCOPIC EMPORIUM.

E. ANTHONY, 308 Broadway, New York.

After May 1st, 1860, at 501 Broadway, two doors from the St. Nicholas Hotel.

The Stereoscope is the most instructive, interesting, entertaining, amusing and exciting of modern inventions.

None are too young, none too old, none too intelligent, none too uneducated, to acknowledge its worth and beauty.

No home is complete without it, and it must and will penetrate everywhere.

It presents to your view every part of the world, in all the relief, boldness, perspective, and sharpness of detail, as if you were on the spot.

Photographers are everywhere exploring Europe, Asia, Africa, America, in search of the grand and the beautiful, and the results of their skill are constantly enriching our stock.

We have an immense variety of paper Views of Scenes in Paris, London, England, Scotland, Ireland, Wales, France Belgium, Holland, Switzerland, Spain, The Rhine, Versailles St. Cloud, Fontainebleau, Tuileries, Italy, Turkey, Egypt Athens, the Holy Land, China, India, Crystal Palace, also Groups Historical, amusing marriage scenes, breakfast scenes, pic-nics, statuary, &c., &c. An exquisite assortment of Illuminated Interiors of Palaces, Churches, and Cathedrals of France, Italy, &c., &c. The effect of these Illuminated views is most remarkable.

Every gentleman of wealth and refined taste should have in his drawing-room some of our exquisite views on glass, with a revolving stereoscope, showing 12, 26, 50 or 100 scenes. Nothing can be more fascinating, and one can offer no greater treat to a friend fond of the picturesque and the beautiful.

Anthony's Instantaneous Stereoscopic Views are the latest Photographic wonder. They are taken in the fortieth part of a second, and everything no matter how rapidly it may be moving, is depicted as sharply and distinctly as if it had been perfectly at rest. This gives an additional value, for to the beauties of inanimate nature is adds the charm of life and motion. The process is a discovery of our own, and being unknown in Europe, we receive from London and Paris large orders for Anthony's Instantaneous Views of American life and scenery.

Among other things we have just published Stereoscopic Illustrations of the Scene of the Fulton Street Prayer Meetings, in which many hearts feel an interest. The Particulars of this will be found in our catalogue.

Our Catalogue of subjects and prices will be forwarded to any address on receipt of a stamp.

Parties at a distance sending us $5, $6, $10, $15, $20, or $25, can have a good instrument and such pictures as they may request, sent by express.

Views alone, (without instrument) can be sent by mail.

Parties who wish to be advised of everything really valuable in the line that comes out, may send us their names to place on record, and we will keep them posted, at our own expense.

Men of leisure will find Photography a most fascinating and delightful amusement. We are prepared to fit out amateurs with everything necessary for their success together with instructions "How to take Stereoscopic Pictures."

E. ANTHONY,

Importer and Manufacturer of Photographic Materials, Stereoscopes and Stereoscopic Views.

JUST OPENED

A STOCK OF

Entirely New Goods,

AT

R. A. O. KERR

WOULD INFORM THE GOOD people of Altoona, the surrounding country, and the "rest of mankind," that he has just returned from the city with a large stock of NEW GOODS, which he offers at reasonable prices, at the stand formerly occupied by R. Kerr, and recently by W. O'Neal, on Main street. His stock in the only one in town which is

ENTIRELY NEW,

and he flatters himself that he has something to please the eye of every lady, and suit the wants of every gentleman. He deems it unnecessary to enumerate all the articles on the shelves, (as to do so would require a whole newspaper,) but would say that he has everything in the line of which this meridian calls for, and all just suited to the season, together with a well selected assortment of House Furnishing Goods, such as Carpets, Window Blinds, Shades, &c., which will commend themselves.

LADIES' DRESS GOODS

FOR GENTLEMEN,

he has a great variety—from which they can not fail to make a satisfactory selection. He has also a tip-top assortment of GROCERIES, as good and cheap as can be had at the place of the kind. Also, HARDWARE, QUEENSWARE, and everything growing or manufacture. Also, HARDWARE, QUEENSWARE, and everything necessary to complete a store in a thriving town like Altoona.

All he asks is that the people call and examine his stock, which he will at all times take pleasure in showing, and he feels confident that he can send them away rejoicing, if not in the purchase of just such an article as they wanted, at the remembrance of having looked upon the handsomest stock of Goods ever exhibited in the town.

LOOK OUT FOR YOUR HEAD!

A poet gives the following advice to young men on going to parties:

In going to parties, just mind what your at;
Beware of your head and take care of your HAT;
Least you find that a fancy is son of your mother,
Has an ache in the one and a brick in the other.

Speaking about hats and heads—the subscriber would respectfully announce that he has just returned from the city with a large and well selected stock of Men and Boys

HATS AND CAPS, OF ALL STYLES,

FOR FALL AND WINTER,

of every color and shape. Also, a good assortment of

LADIES AND MISSES FURS,

of different varieties, all of which will be sold

CHEAP FOR CASH.

Persons in want of anything in the above line, will please give me a call before purchasing elsewhere, as I am determined to sell at the very lowest possible prices.

HOSTETTER'S STOMACH BITTERS.

It is a fact that, at some period, every member of the human family is subject to disease or disturbance of the bodily functions; but, with the aid of a good tonic and the exercise of plain common sense, they may be able so to regulate the system as to secure permanent health. In order to accomplish this desired object, the true course to pursue is certainly that which will produce a natural state of things at the least hazard of vital strength and life. For this purpose, Dr. Hostetter has introduced to this country a preparation bearing his name, which is not a new medicine, but one that has been tried for years, giving satisfaction to all who have used it. The Bitters operate powerfully upon the stomach, bowels, and liver, restoring them to a healthy and vigorous action, and thus, by the simple process of strengthening nature, enable the system to triumph over disease.

For the cure of Dyspepsia, Indigestion, Nausea, Flatulency, Loss of Appetite, or any Bilious Complaints, arising from a morbid inaction of the Stomach or Bowels, producing Cramps, Dysentery, Colic, Cholera Morbus, &c., these Bitters have no equal.

Diarrhœa, dysentery or flux, so generally contracted by new settlers, and caused principally by the change of water and diet, will be speedily regulated by a brief use of this preparation. Dyspepsia, a disease which is probably more prevalent, in all its various forms, than any other, and the cause of which may always be attributed to derangements of the digestive organs, can be cured without fail by using HOSTETTER'S STOMACH BITTERS, as per directions on the bottle. For this disease every physician will recommend Bitters of some kind; then why not use an article known to be infallible? All nations have their Bitters, as a preventive of disease and strengthener of the system in general; and among them all there is not to be found a more healthy people than the Germans, from whom this preparation emanated, based upon scientific experiments which have tended to prove the value of this great preparation in the scale of medical science.

FEVER AND AGUE.—This taying and provoking disease, which fixes its relentless grasp on the body of man, reducing him to a mere shadow in a short time, and rendering him physically and mentally useless, can be driven from the body by the use of HOSTETTER'S RENOWNED BITTERS. Further, none of the above-stated diseases can be contracted, even in exposed situations, if the Bitters are used as per directions. And as they neither create nausea nor offend the palate, and render unnecessary any change of diet, or interruption of ordinary pursuits, but promote sound sleep and healthy digestion, the complaint is removed as speedily as is consistant with the production of a thorough and permanent cure.

For Persons in Advanced Years, who are suffering from an enfeebled constitution and infirm body, these Bitters are invaluable as a restorative of strength and vigor, and need only be tried to be appreciated. And to a mother while nursing these Bitters are indispensable, especially where the mother's nourishment is inadequate to the demands of the child, consequently her strength must yield, and here it is where a good tonic, such as Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, is needed to impart temporary strength and vigor to the system. Ladies should by all means try this remedy for all cases of debility, and, before so doing, should ask their physician, who, if he is acquainted with the virtue of the Bitters, will recommend their use in all cases of weakness.

CAUTION.—We caution the public against using any of the many imitations or counterfeits, but ask for HOSTETTER'S CELEBRATED STOMACH BITTERS, and see that each bottle has the words "Dr. J. Hostetter's Stomach Bitters" blown on the side of the bottle, and stamped on the metallic cap covering the cork, and observe that our autograph signature is on the label.

☞ Prepared and sold by HOSTETTER & SMITH, Pittsburgh, Pa., and sold by all druggists, grocers, and dealers generally throughout the United States, Canada, South America, and Germany.

☞ Sold by G W Kessler and A Roush, Altoona; G A Jacobs, J K Patton and W G Murray, Hollidaysburg; and S Berlin, Tyrone [Aug 25, 1859-1y

All kinds of Feed for horses, cows and hogs, always on hand.

I intend to keep such an assortment that I shall at all times be able to supply my customers with whatever they may need, and I intend also to sell at prices which will make it a saving to those who patronize my store.

July 22, 1858-3m. HENRY BELL.

THE UNDERSIGNED WOULD respectfully inform his old customers and the public generally that he has just received a LARGE and HANDSOME assortment of which he is now ready to make up to the latest style and manner, as none but are employed, and can be warranted to fit. He has also a good stock of GENTS' FURNISHING GOODS, such as SHIRTS, COLLARS, UNDERSHIRTS, Drawers, Pocket Handkerchiefs, Neck Ties, Stocks, Suspenders, Hosiery, &c., &c.; also a large assortment of READY-MADE CLOTHING, all of which he is determined to sell as cheap as they can be bought this side of Philadelphia. The public are respectfully invited to call and examine my stock, as I shall take pleasure in showing them. Doors open at all times from 6 A. M. until 9 P. M. Admittance free.

CLOTHS, Cassimeres, VESTINGS, AND

RED LION HOTEL,

ALTOONA, BLAIR COUNTY, PA.

This old established and popular HOTEL, located nearly opposite the place of stopping the passenger cars in Altoona, has passed into the hands of the present proprietor.—Long experience in the business warrants me in assuring the travelling public that no pains will be spared to render guests as comfortable as possible while sojourning under my roof.

The TABLE will constantly be supplied with the very best the market affords.

The BAR will be found to contain an excellent assortment of LIQUORS of all kinds, including that choice beverage LAGER BEER.

The STABLE is in charge of an excellent and experienced Ostler.

The proprietor hopes, by his long experience in the business and the facilities at his command, to make the Red Lion, in all respects, a first class Hotel. The business of the Hotel will be under my own personal supervision. A liberal share of public patronage is kindly solicited.

BLACKWOOD'S MAGAZINE AND BRITISH REVIEWS.

I. SCOTT & CO., New York, continue to publish the following leading British Periodicals, viz.:

1. THE LONDON QUARTERLY (Conservative).
2. THE EDINBURGH REVIEW (Whig).
3. THE NORTH BRITISH REVIEW (Free Church).
4. THE WESTMINSTER REVIEW (Liberal).
5. BLACKWOOD'S EDINBURGH MAGAZINE (Tory).

These periodicals ably represent the three great political parties of Great Britain—Whig, Tory and Radical—but politics forms only one feature of their character. As Organs of the most profound writers on Science, Literature, Morality, and Religion, they stand, as they ever have stood, unrivalled in the world of letters, being considered indispensable to the scholar and the professional man, while to the intelligent readers of every class they furnish a more correct and satisfactory record of the current literature of the day, throughout the world, than can be possibly obtained from any other source.

EARLY COPIES.

The receipt of Advance Sheets from the British publishers gives additional value to these Reprints, inasmuch as they can now be placed in the hands of subscribers about as soon as the original editions.

Thus: Four copies of Blackwood, or of one Review, will be sent to one address for $24; four copies of the four Reviews and Blackwood for $30; and so on.

POSTAGE.

In all the principal Cities and Towns these works will be delivered Free of Postage. When sent by mail, the Postage to any part of the United States will be but Twenty-four cents a year for "Blackwood," and but Fourteen Cents a year for each of the Reviews.

N.B.—The price in Great Britain of the five Periodicals above named is $31 per annum.

THE FARMER'S GUIDE TO PRACTICAL AND SCIENTIFIC AGRICULTURE.

By HENRY STEPHENS, F. R. S., of Edinburgh, and the late J. P. NORTON, Professor of Scientific Agriculture in Yale College, New Haven. 2 vols. Royal Octavo. 1600 pages, and numerous engravings.

This is, confessedly, the most complete work on Agriculture ever published and in order to give it a wider circulation the publishers have resolved to reduce the price to

FIVE DOLLARS FOR THE TWO VOLUMES!!

When sent by mail (post-paid) to California and Oregon the price will be $7. To every other part of the Union, and to Canada (post-paid), $6. ☞ This work is NOT the old "Book of the Farm."

JACOB SNYDER, TAILOR,

The Hero of One Hundred Fits per Month!

I would respectfully set forth my claim to public attention, as a Fashionable Tailor, as follows:

Because I keep an excellent assortment of Cloths, Cassimeres, Vestings and Trimmings, which, when examined, always please.

Because my work is made up in a manner that takes down the country and gives all my customers a city appearance.

Because I am not inferior as a Cutter to the best to be found anywhere.

Because long experience in my business gives me entire control over it, and I am not dependant upon any one to lift me out of the ends.

Because I am still on the sunny side of forty, and therefore fly taste as a Cutter and workman unimpaired.

Call on me, in the corner room of the "Brant House." Give me a trial and you will go away pleased.
